Exercise 3

See if you can find the capitalization mistakes in Muffy's letter. She needs a little help (in more ways than one). Write each incorrectly capitalized word in its correct form.

Write C if the sentence is correct.

Hi,Buff!

1. I'm sitting in english and my weird teacher is talking about herself again. 2. She's even more boring than my History teacher. 3. I always tune him out because all he talks about is how president Eisenhower (I think) won the civil war and held the country together. 4. I'm really impressed. 5. Anyway, the best part of this class is that the guy from London, which is a place in england—you know—the place where they have the London bridge and famous stuff like that. 6. I swear he looks like a statue of a greek god. 7. I'm drooling all over my copy of health and glamour magazine. 8. By the way, I'm learning how to do a proper sit up. 9. I can already do two of them—in a row! 10. Anyway, I think his Dad is a famous senator or Congressman or athlete or something who won some kind of important award, like the purple heart or medal of Honor or grammy or something. 11. And I think his mom is a sophomore teacher or a counselor or a principal or something like that at Einstein high school on forty-third street. 12. Speaking of Einsteins, I forgot to tell you that my brilliant Mom grounded me for accidentally driving the Porsche through the garage wall while she and Dad went to a meeting of their support group, you know, parents with children of challenging teens. 13. I was practicing driving because I get my license in the spring, which is only 11½ months away! 14. My Birthday is the day after Easter, so I always get a bunch of stale candy. Whoopee. 15. Would you believe mom said I can't go anywhere for six months? 16. The good thing is she'll forget by friday. 17. If she doesn't, mother's day is this weekend, and I bought her a piece of godiva chocolate to soften her up. 18. I accidentally ate half of it, but I don't think she'll notice. 19. I have to go to Algebra next, and the teacher is such a dork. 20. Monday he had this big green thing hanging from his nose and he didn't even know it. 21. He looked like someone from that movie The Revenge Of the Slime People. 22. Speaking of dorks, my english teacher is walking over here. 23. I'll see you in Biology tomorrow, and I just hope we don't have to cut up a frog because guts are so gross! 24. I think the president of the country should make cutting up stuff illegal, don't you?

25. Your Friend,

Muffy

The Giggly Guide to Grammar © 2008 Cathy Campbell. All rights reserved. www.discoverwriting.com • For classroom use only